	To Rev. Samuel May Jr., Leicester, Mass.	No.11

Cromarth Lodge, Old Brompton, London, England. Unknown writer copied a note of M. Mazzini to G. Armstrong, added a paragraph of his own and sent it by hand to Rev. May. Note said that M. Mazzini had delivered a letter from Mr. Ashurst to Louis Kossuth; doubted that it would be acknowledged; thanked Mr. Armstrong for a book; and said "we are moving on the same path to relink Earth to Heaven" and quoted the Lord's Prayer. Added paragraph says that writer knows Nad-rian Lemmi (spelling doubtful), secretary to Kossuth and would like to have him introduced to American sympathizers with the Italian cause. Writer also wants London address of Mrs. Chapman. Letter is unsigned. [redacted] handwriting of the letter and the address on the envelope [redacted] not the same. Sender may have been G. Armstrong.

At foot of page 1 is A.N.S. by Giuseppe Mazzini.

An Italian patriot and writer. Was banished from Italy to Marseilles in 1831 where he organized a political association called Young Italy. Became a resident of London in 1842. The revolutionary movements of 1848 returned him to Italy in time to unsuccessfully attempt to defend Rome against the French. Went into exile in London. In 1857 he incited an insurrection in Northern Italy which failed. Joined Garibaldi in 1860. Opposed Louis Napoleon's plan for the confederation for Italy. During the last years of his life, he tried to organize the working classes of Italy. Consult main cards for full contents.

Church, Benjamin, 1734-1776 ? physician.

Deposition.

[Boston?] Testifies that he accompanied Doctor Eleazer Carver to the house of Captain William Bennet in September, 1770, and heard Bennet offer Carver the sum of forty shillings a month for the voyage to the coast of Africa; that Bennet answered his protest at the low wages with a statement that the physician on board his ship always attended on board other ships and made much money; states that no agreement was made as to Carver's attendance upon other of Bennet's ships; finds the charges in the account against Daniel McCarty to be reasonable. aBristol and Bridgewater (England). The writer expresses her love and devotion to the addressee. Mary Estlin had drawn up two resolutions: "one to sever the tie between the Bristol and British A.S. Society," the other "a vote of thanks and sympathy with you and your sisters." If the resolutions are passed, Mary hopes to get them into the Bristol Examiner when a letter from Mr. Estlin will appear in reply to Mr. Charlton. The writer deplors that Mr. Williamson has nothing more to do with the Examiner. Mr. (John Angell?) James has heard the resolutions and the letter to Mr. Charlton, and "he and Mr. Estlin worked themselves up into something resembling a Christian frame of mind..." The box is finished and has been pronounced perfect. The writer has seen the things collected for F. Douglass

2 Park St., (Bristol, England). The writer discusses articles in the British Banner, Dr. (John) Campbell's views on the Abolitionists' attitude toward the church, an apparent dispute between a Mr. Chickering and Lewis Tappan, and an article on American Slavery which is concerned with the "Infidel School of American Abolitionists." The Dublin Anti-Slavery Society has passed a "vote of disapprobation" on the conduct of Kossuth. Quotes Mary (Estlin) as saying "she should think that Kossuth would never sleep in peace in his bed again." Refers to an admirable speech by W. Phillips, an excellent article by E. Quincy in the Nat. To Mrs. Maria (Weston) Chapman?

«Park St., (Bristol, Eng.). "Miss Weston's return to America seems like a prelude to your all taking flight." R. D. Webb is going to London to see her (Caroline Weston) and will join J. B. Estlin there. It is hoped that the first number of the Advocate will appear on the first of October. The addressee will receive a report of the B. & C. (Bristol & Clifton?) Society, which "is said here to be a matter of history." Two ministers from America have been critical of Josiah Henson. Tells of Sarah Fugh's visit here. Reports on Fanny N. Tribe's wedding. Hopes that her marriage will not quench the Anti-Slavery zeal of the bride, now Mrs. Seton. The Estlins enjoyed their Irish visit. Contributions for the Anti-Slavery Bazaar are coming in slowly this year. The writer has made nine bags. A minister named Bigelow defended slavery and „Bristol, Eng.: Congratulates Miss Weston on her return home, but hopes she will find reasons for making a second visit to Europe and that then "dear Annie Chapman" will accompany her." Elaborates on her nearness to the addressee in spirit. Mentions an Anti-Slavery show which has just ended. Praises Sarah Pugh, finds comfort in her consent to postpone her departure till the middle of November, and hopes she will stay through the winter. "She has already done good service at Bath"; Miss Pugh's expositions had eager listeners, who "gave forth their fears and doubts touching Garrison and the Infidel question-and were comforted by her replies." Mary Estlin's Report is doing good service. They have "bright hopes" of the Advocate, the first number of which is to appear on October 1st. Does not expect the paper to be overpopular in the Bridgewater district. Wants the addressee to remember "that nothing ... will be so useful as Mr. Garrison's works." The writer is eager to hear how the addressee got on with Henson, who was her fellow voyager. Miss Pugh and Mr. James had a discussion of the women's rights question. Mary Estlin? and the writer are "yet in a mist as to some of our wrongs, but the American and English position are in some degree different." Has heard that Mrs. Maria W. Chapman is looking for an apartment. Gives news of other acquaintances, mentioning Mr. John Bishop. Estlin apparently in his capacity as physician. Tells of an argument which Garrison was called "bloodthirsty" by a Mr. Biggs (?), who also told the story of Parker Pillsbury and the dogs.

47 Park St., Bristol, England. The writer reflects on the spiritual bond that unites all Abolitionists. Imagines the pleasure with which Anne will look upon the daguerreotype of Mr. John Bishop Estlin, which cannot, however, give "the benevolent play of his countenance." Dwells at length on the state of the Estlins' health. Mr. Estlin's lack of strength in his right hand appears to be the only trace left of his attack, and his vigor for long walks remains unimpaired. Mary Estlin has been overworked and will try the water cure near Birmingham. Refers to (evidently another) daguerreotype of Mary Estlin and her father, which they consider a failure in regard to Mr. Estlin, the coloring being so high "that it gives one the idea of his not belonging to anything in the

The latter had written to American Abolitionists for information, and "there seems now to be an opening for awakening a more extensive interest." Though Frederick Douglass "has been their hero," Mr. Steinthal, who had seen only Douglass's own paper the North Star, "gathered from it what Douglass really is-with regard to his late attack on real Abolitionists." To Mrs. Maria (Weston) Chapman 60 Broadway, Albany, N. Y.: There is little Anti-Slavery sentiment here. "New Organization seems to have crept in ... they have a male and female society." Last year they cast a hundred votes, this year twenty-five. "Many Liberty party men forgot when the day of election came around." Thinks that if W. Phillips should lecture here, it would do much good. Refers to the sitting of the Legislature. "The Whigs promise to make some effort towards restoring to the colored people their political rights." The writer has sold several of F. Douglass's books. Asks about a Mr. Wellington, and refers to his alleged "good reason for not offering Miss Miles a situation in his school."

No. 42B

To William Lloyd Garrison

Woodstock, (Vt.). Has not received all of his Liberator's. Gives mailing directions. His parents are "friends of the Colonization Society," and do not like the principles of the Liberator. Tells of his arguments with them. Wants his parents' consent, which he expects to obtain in about two months, before paying for the next two months' Liberator's. Speaks of the "just indignation of a Holy God" toward an America guilty of slaveholding.
